It is not only since the Covid 19 pandemic that sustainability in the capital markets moved into the collective consciousness. The volume of assets invested in accordance with sustainable criteria has been increasing for years with double-digit percentage growth rates. In the investment policy of pension funds & foundations sustainable criteria have long been playing a significant role in the selection of investment instruments. Our guest authors will explain in more detail in our Börsen-Zeitung SPEZIAL Pension Funds & Foundations which approaches make sense and which investments are the safest way to counter the imponderables of the markets on the one hand and meet the investment requirements on the other. But of course the focus is not only on sustainable investments.
